“Providing our clients with the service and support they have grown to rely on was the most crucial factor in making this decision. It is paramount that the relationships we built with our clients maintain the same level of dedication they came to know from CADMIN but renewed and expanded thru the vast capabilities & portfolio of D3.

Furthermore, D3’s ability to support ongoing education with their exclusive CAD L.I.V.E.™ Training is something that I’m excited to offer. With this state-of-the-art virtual training platform, D3 can provide CAM training anywhere, reducing the cost students have come to anticipate with the travel and inconvenience of other training options. But most importantly, with CAD L.I.V.E, students aren’t sacrificing the quality of education because D3 instructors are still live and engaged with them. Our clients will love that.” Said Paul Kessler, former President & CEO of CADMIN Services, Inc.

D3 partners on delivering Autodesk CAD/CAM/CAE solutions with thousands of clients nationwide. While many of them may be Fortune 500 companies, over 50% of our clients have 3 or fewer engineers or designers. Regardless of size, D3 is a true business partner helping all manufacturing companies pursue their corporate goals to increase productivity and profitability.

“I’m very excited to be working with Paul and to be able to expand the breadth & depth of D3’s capabilities with Autodesk’s manufacturing solutions such as PowerMill, FeatureCAM, and TruNest. This is an exciting development for our clients, because now with D3, they can have one partner covering all their needs with Autodesk solutions.” Said Kevin Schlack, President of D3 Technologies.
